

Abstract of the Disclosure

A lighting system for illuminating hollow elements such as signs, inscriptions, letters, and relief letters, has a number of printed circuit boards provided with LEDs, cables for connecting the printed circuit boards to one another and/or for connecting the printed circuit boards to a voltage source, and attachment elements for attaching the printed circuit boards to a desired location.